

About Dr. Signe Beebe

Dr. Beebe received her DVM from Purdue University School of Veterinary Medicine. After graduation, she practiced veterinary emergency medicine and critical care exclusively until 1997. During that time, she owned and operated a 24-hour animal emergency medicine and critical care facility in central Washington state.

She began her study of alternative and complementary medicine modalities in 1994. She relocated to California in 1997, where she practices integrative veterinary medicine. That is, when appropriate, she combines conventional veterinary medical care with the other complementary and alternative therapies she is trained in.

Dr. Beebe has a special interest in the application of Chinese herbal medicine, food therapy and intravenous Vitamin C (for more on IV Vitamin C click here) for the treatment of cancer, and in the use of veterinary prolotherapy to rehabilitate and treat chronic musculoskeletal pain conditions (for more on prolotherapy click here).
