

Dr. Troy Stevens

About W. Troy Stevens D.C.

Dr. Troy Stevens graduated from Western States Chiropractic College in Portland, Oregon in 1991. Prior to earning his doctorate in chiropractic, Dr. Stevens attended Southern Oregon State University, where he completed three years of undergraduate studies in science and biology. After graduation, he went into practice as an associate for three years in Sacramento before opening his own clinic in Citrus Heights in 1994. In 1996, Dr. Stevens purchased a second practice in Dixon, California, where he is currently operating full time.

In 1993, Dr. Stevens received certification in California's Workers Compensation Qualified Medical Evaluator Program, which he held for ten years before deciding to devote more time to his interest in animal chiropractic. In 2003, Dr. Stevens attended the foremost leading Animal Chiropractic School, Options for Animals in Northern Illinois. He completed over 180 hours of course study in animal chiropractic before receiving his certificate of completion, and was certified by the American Veterinarian Chiropractic Association in 2004.

Dr. Stevens loves the outdoors and his personal interests are cycling, bow hunting, and fishing.